
Healthcare

The quality of medical care in the Czech Republic is generally high – the system of healthcare has been rated as one of the best in the European Union.

Citizens and foreign nationals living in the Czech Republic are required to have health insurance.

